About Anne Romney

Anne Romney, MEd, is a Portsmouth resident, educator, and group facilitator who is actively involved in social justice work in the Seacoast area. She is a trained facilitator in the program White People Challenging Racism and frequently presents workshops on the book, Waking Up White. Anne has been involved with local organizations including Friends Forever International, Portsmouth Listens, and the Black Heritage Trail of NH. This past fall she had the privilege of traveling to Israel and Palestine for two weeks on the Compassionate Listening Project.

About the Event

Anne will present about her Compassionate Listening Journey to Israel and Palestine (this past October) through sharing the personal narratives from people they met.

These stories from Israelis and Palestinians living in the West Bank and Gaza provide insight into the human experience, too often overshadowed by the larger political view of "the conflict." They represent people who face major challenges on a daily basis and some who find courageous ways to reach across and work with "the other."
